END OF ROAD AS BUS FIRMS LOSE LICENCES

Services will be cut as three companies are slammed over failings

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

SOME bus services will be scrapped and the future of others is uncertain after three Harlow companies were stripped of their licences.

Fines totalling more than £25,000 have also been handed to Town Link Buses Ltd, Road Runner Buses Ltd and Olympus Bus & Coach Ltd following a public inquiry in Cambridge.

The firms, which are all based at Burnt Mill industrial estate, will have their licences revoked on February 26, deputy traffic commissioner Miles Dorrington ruled on Thursday.

Standing

Mr Dorrington found Town Link and Road Runner to "not be professionally competent" and all three companies, including Olympus, to not be of "appropriate financial standing".

Town Link were fined £14,250, Road Runner £6,000 and Olympus £4,800.

Roadrunner transport manager Martin Upton was found not to be recorded as a transport manager on any operator's licence and will be disqualified for six months from February 1. In addition Olympus' transport manager Carmelo Antonio Mariano has lost his good reputation as a manager and will be disqualified from February 26 for a year.

Bus monitoring exercises conducted ahead of the inquiry showed that all three firms

ON STRIKE: BMA members went on strike at PAH on Tuesday

Junior doctors strike over pay and hours

PATIENTS are being urged to seek alternatives before visiting the A&E department at Princess Alexandra Hospital on three days of strikes by junior doctors over pay.

The British Medical Association (BMA) members will provide emergency care on two of the three dates after negotiations with the Government ended with no resolution.

Issues being disputed by the BMA and NHS include weekend working and pay.

The PAH trust say they have "robust contingency" plans and that safety remains their top priority during any industrial action.

The first 24-hour strike was held on Tuesday. A second 48-hour strike where only emergency care will be provided is due to be held from 8am on Tuesday, January 26 to 8am on Thursday, January 28.

A full walk-out is planned for Wednesday, February 10 from 8am to 5pm.

Bus firms well below standard on punctuality

performed well below the standard set by the traffic commissioner of 95 per cent of buses leaving a stop no more than one minute early or five minutes late.

A 38-year-old Harlow driver from another firm, who did not wish to be named, said some Town Link drivers were told only last week of the results of the inquiry.

He said: "There was no redundancy; it's absolutely shambolic." From February 26, the Town Link services 19/20 to Epping and Ongar, 524 to Hertford and Ware and T15 to Potter Street will all cease.

Bus users who take the 524 to Ware or Hertford will have to take the Green Line 724 instead, and travellers to St Margaret's will need to use the Trustybus 392 or 410 routes.

Increase

Rival firm Arriva has confirmed their new 9 route service will cover the T15 route, providing buses every 20 minutes. Trustybus chiefs also announced an increase to their 419/420 service covering the Epping and Ongar routes.

The Star approached Town Link, Olympus and Road Runner but the service's managers refused to comment.

Disgruntled bus users voiced their displeasure with Town Link on the Star Facebook page.

Nathan Leiper added: "Town Link are shocking. One driver nearly knocked me and my disabled daughter over at a crossing and you always see them broken down by the side of the road."

Harlow resident Marcus Webb wrote: "Their drivers don't give a damn, always on their phones while driving."

"They are never on time and I'm surprised the majority of their buses are allowed on the road."

Litter louts fined under crackdown

Court cases following non-payment of notices

Court Reporter

star@hertsexnews.co.uk

THREE people have been handed fines totalling more than £1,750 after a crackdown on littering in Harlow.

Elvie Christmas, of Rundells, was fined on August 6, 2015 for dumping 12 bags of rubbish, pictured right, after council officers found evidence linking her to the items.

But Christmas failed to pay the Fixed Penalty Notice and on Thursday magistrates in Chelmsford fined her £440. In her absence, Christmas was also ordered to pay £290 court costs and a £44 victim surcharge.

Christopher Cook, of Spruce Hill, pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Magistrates' Court on Thursday to non-payment of a fixed penalty notice.

He was issued with the notice after council officers saw him throw a cigarette on the floor and walk away on September 10, 2015.

Cook was fined £80 and ordered to pay £220 court costs and a victim surcharge of £20.

Scott Jolley, of North Weald Bassett, was summonsed for non-payment of a fixed penalty notice issued by council officers, who witnessed him throw a cigarette on the floor and walk away on October 6, 2015.

The case was proved in his absence and Jolley was fined £440 and ordered to pay court costs of £180 and a £44 victim surcharge.

A statement released by Harlow Council said: "Every year Harlow Council spends close to £2m cleaning up Harlow's streets and housing estates. Money that could be saved to protect other services if a minority of people didn't drop litter or dump rubbish."

Councillor Mark Wilkinson, portfolio holder for environment, said: "Littering and fly-tipping are one of the top concerns of our residents."

"Dropping litter and dumping rubbish is unacceptable, unsightly and potentially hazardous to health, and the council will always act to take the perpetrators to task, provided we have the conclusive evidence we need to issue a fixed penalty notice."

"Dropping a cigarette butt is not a petty act as it contributes hugely to the amount of litter on our streets."

"Cigarette butts on our streets are common and they are extremely difficult to clear up; litter picking costs both time and council taxpayers' money."

"While it is unfortunate that this action has had to be taken I'd like to say thank you and well done to the council's Community Safety and Legal Teams in bringing these prosecutions to a successful conclusion."

Blueprint for giving the town centre a fresh start

Council sets out proposals and timescale for improvements

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AMBITION plans to regenerate and modernise Harlow town centre to ensure its long-term future have been unveiled.

Moving Harlow Central Library, employing a town centre manager and improving Broad Walk are among the proposals being put forward by Harlow Council.

"We need a fresh start for our town centre," said Cllr Tony Durcan, the council's portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise. "Parts of the town centre are in need of regeneration, with ageing buildings and public spaces, and we know the northern part of the town centre needs revitalising."

Vibrancy

"This year the council will press ahead with plans to start improving the look and vibrancy of Broad Walk and Market Square to help attract investment."

Cllr Durcan has revealed his top priorities for improving the town centre, such as introducing new seating, lighting and green space in the Broad Walk and Market Square.

His wishlist includes relocating Harlow Central Library to free up access between the Water Gardens and Broad Walk, while plans are in place to improve walkways to the Harvey Centre.

"In our plans nothing is ruled out," added Cllr Durcan, of the council's ruling Labour group. "We need to consider if the bus station is in the right place and if we can better link the town centre with the railway station."

"How can we improve the look of some of the private sector buildings like Redstone House and Occasio House to give a better perception of Harlow to visitors? What does the future hold for some of the Government-owned buildings, and the now-redundant magistrates' court?"

"We want to encourage people to give their views about all these issues to the council."

However, Cllr Durcan admitted the complex ownership rights agreements in the town will make it hard for the council to realise its dream quickly.

"The regeneration of the northern part of the town centre is a massive challenge," he added. "It is a long-term project, not only because of the age of this area and its many buildings, but because of the number of different land and building owners."

"Not everything is in our control, but what we can do is set out our plans and vision and hope others follow."

Conservative opposition leader on the council Andrew Johnson, who launched the Save Harlow Town Centre campaign last year, supports the proposals but said he will keep a close eye on developments.

"The council seems to have got into gear and there is a lot of activity going on," he said. "This is very much the first stage in the road and I'm waiting with bated breath to see what the next proposals will be."

Cllr Johnson said the new proposals were proof the Save Harlow Town Centre initiative was paying off.

"I am pleased the campaign has got them to do something," he said. "When the findings from the campaign are published it will give us more of an indication of what we could do in the future."

Witness appeal over 'road rage' triple stabbing

TWO women and a man were stabbed in a suspected road rage incident on the A414 near Harlow.

Police said a Ford Fiesta and a grey BMW were being driven along the dual carriageway towards Harlow before coming to a stop just short of the Eastwick roundabout on New Year's Day between 11.30am and 11.55am.

Two people from each of the vehicles were then involved in an altercation which resulted in two women and a man suffering stab wounds.

They were taken to hospital and have since been released.

Following the incident, the male and female occupants of the BMW got back in their vehicle and drove off towards Sawbridgeworth.

The male and female occupants of the Ford Fiesta left the scene in their vehicle, travelling towards Harlow town centre and Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Detective Constable Emma Cozens, of Herts Police, said: "I would appeal to anyone who was driving along that stretch of road and saw the vehicles prior to the incident or saw the incident itself, to please contact me with information."

Anyone who has any information which would assist the investigation is asked to contact the Herts Police non-emergency number 101 quoting crime reference number A1/16/11.

Three people have been arrested on suspicion of violent disorder.

They are a 59-year-old man from Waltham Abbey who is on police bail until January 28, a 30-year-old man from Harlow who is on police bail until January 29, and a 25-year-old woman from Harlow who is on police bail until January 29.

Counting cost of HWRA cut

SIR, So Harlow Council needs to find £1m of savings due to cuts in Government funding (Star, January 7). What a pity, then, that it took the decision to close down Harlow's valued and much-needed Welfare Rights and Advice service.

This determined and short-sighted action has cost the town's council taxpayers well in excess of £600,000 – money that could have gone a long way to stave off the effect of these cuts.

In these times of austerity, the closure of HWRA has robbed the town's most vulnerable residents of a much-needed service. Meanwhile, the purpose-built Advice Centre in East Gate has stood empty for three years, adding to the general air of dilapidation that hangs over Town Centre North while the council has to fork out full business rates on the vacant premises.

Yes, Harlow Council won its fight to close down HWRA but at what cost to the town and the residents it is supposed to serve?

Memories of DJ 'Stewpot'

SIR, The recent sad loss of disc jockey Ed 'Stewpot' Stewart brought back fond memories of his connection to Harlow. Between 1972/75 (approximately) he was the president of local boys football club Saturn XI FC of which I was a member.

I can recall several occasions when he attended our end-of-season functions to award medals. He always embraced these evenings wholeheartedly and seemed to enjoy them. He was also Santa at our Christmas fete held at Peterswood School.

In May 1973 Saturn XI2s were preparing to play in a cup final and on the morning of the game Ed made a point of wishing us the best of luck on his popular Sunday radio programme Junior Choice.

During the mid 70s Saturn organised a charity football match held at Harlow Sportcentre. As I recall, Stewpot kept goal for a showbiz XI which featured, among others, Elton John and Rod Stewart.

It also brings back great

Frustrated by noisy drivers

SIR, I live in Abbotsweld and I am growing increasingly frustrated with the noise from cars during the night.

At 6am on Christmas Day morning what can only be described as some sick-minded person decided to drive down our road sounding their car horn at intermittent stages (you could hear the car coming down the road). Of course this woke most of my family which was hugely frustrating when a long day lays ahead.

Then at 3am this morning a car travelled down our road with the engine revving and making all sorts of noise. This woke both myself and my wife and as I had to get up at 5.30am for work I felt absolutely exhausted.

There have been numerous other instances of car noises. My point to these people is please think of the consequences for those around you.

I. Barrett

What are kids up to online?

SIR, As a father I worry about the dangers facing my children online. While the internet is a fantastic resource, it's also home to potential offenders searching for young victims. With smart phones, webcams, laptops and gaming consoles a part of most children's lives, it's never been easier for perpetrators to contact them.

So it's concerning to hear that a recent poll for Barnardo's reveals that half of young people surveyed admitted that their parents don't really know what they do online, while one in 11 said their parents know nothing.

The same survey says a third of young people find it easier to show their real personality on the internet than with people face to face.

It's essential that parents and professionals understand the technology children are using and who they're talking to online, so we can protect them from abusers pretending to be their friends.

Our 'Digital Dangers' report examines the impact of the digital revolution on the sexual abuse and exploitation of children and young people. It explores how children are vulnerable to being groomed and sexually exploited via mobile technology.

The author interviewed staff, parents and service users at Barnardo's specialist child sexual exploitation services. They revealed disturbing findings about the young victims they support who have been, or are at risk of being, exploited.

Many said that child victims don't necessarily fit a vulnerable or 'at risk' stereotype – such as coming from a troubled background, going missing from home or failing to attend school – which means they could be anyone's child.

They're also less inhibited online and say that using highly sexualised language and sending images of themselves naked to strangers is normal. As one project worker put it: "We're fighting a culture where young people think it's normal to send a picture of their breasts." These children rarely tell anyone they're being groomed or abused online for fear of the shame. A number of parents had no idea their child was being harmed online until they were contacted by police.

There are lessons for all of us in this report. Parents and professionals need to be more aware of the technologies children use and talk to them about what they're doing online. The Government, industry and voluntary sector need to implement measures to prevent online sexual abuse and exploitation. And collectively we need to give children vital sex education and relationship lessons so they're aware of the risks.

The internet and mobile technology have changed everything. One parent whose child was exploited online and offline by dozens of men remembered: "When I was a child I was warned not to speak to strangers. It was simple because they were the ones lurking by the school gates or park swings. But it's so easy for paedophiles to hide behind a text, or emails, or a website to find vulnerable young targets."

Today, one of the biggest dangers facing our children is the one we can't see. The most important question we should be asking our children is what's happening online?

Javed Khan

chief executive, Barnardo's

A question of honours

SIR, Given that a Conservative government has given Harlow Council chief executive Malcolm Morley an OBE in the New Year's Honours, can someone tell the people who pays his wages and whether his last three annual appraisals justify this honour?

This is especially so given the council's colossal waste of money closing Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice.

Indeed, when was Mr Morley's last formal appraisal? The public have a right to know or do we need a Freedom of Information request to find out the truth as we did with the closure of HWRA?

David Forman, secretary
Harlow TUC

Tribunal not a deterrent

SIR, I'm not sure Frank Jackson's threat of an international tribunal to try Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi will put him off his ambition of furthering his global Caliphate (Letters, January 7). Moreover, it assumes he gets a copy of the Star.

Name and address supplied

Expenses are drain on town

SIR, I have been a district councillor for nearly two years and I have never claimed any expenses. I just get my monthly allowance.

I for one think about the short-term issues which will help in the long term. Harlow Council is under enough financial strain, along with the rest of the country, so I don't believe in putting our town under more financial strain.

THE father of murdered mum-to-be Eystna Blunnie has criticised the Government for not providing more services to protect victims of domestic abuse.

Kevin Blunnie, of Halling Hill, Harlow, was speaking after meeting with Karen Bradley, the minister for preventing abuse and exploitation, and Harlow MP Robert Halfon at Harlow Citizens Advice on Friday.

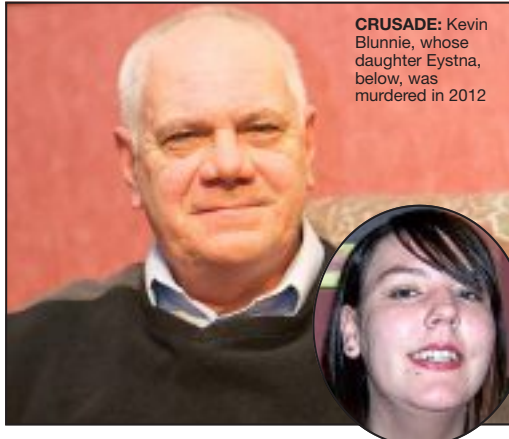

Mr Blunnie said he will continue to lobby politicians for change in memory of his 20-year-old daughter, who was killed by ex-partner Tony McLernon in 2012 when she was 38 weeks pregnant.

McLernon was subsequently jailed for life.

"I feel the Government needs to do a lot more," said Mr Blunnie. "People are being exploited every day and I don't think enough is being done."

Since Eystna's death her father and mother, Susan, have helped to raise awareness of domestic abuse by launching the Rose Project - named after Eystna's unborn child - with domestic violence charity Safer Places.

"We will be doing more to work with victims and to appeal for change as much as we can to bring the Rose Project forward," he said. "More has got to be done and I am going to [talk about this] at an Advocacy After Domestic Abuse conference."

Last year Citizens Advice reported a 24 per cent increase nationally in the number of domestic abuse victims seeking help, with the branch in East Gate, Harlow, dealing with 40 cases.

Domestic abuse accounts for 10 per cent of all crime committed in the town.

After talking with Mr Blunnie, Mrs Bradley said figures could actually be much higher than stated.

"It has been really encouraging to see how the Citizens Advice service is identifying victims who don't realise they are victims," she said. "We really need to find out who the victims are before they end up in A&E."

"The Government is introducing a new range of measures to protect victims of these terrible crimes. One of the steps we are taking is to launch a consultation on a new protection orders, which could keep victims safe while police gather evidence ahead of cases coming to court."

"We also aim to identify the perpetrator earlier and take steps to stop them through a new programme."

Mr Halfon, who invited Mrs Bradley to meet Mr Blunnie, said: "The most important thing is to learn the lessons in what happened to Eystna."

"In Harlow we are aware this is a problem and it is important that we learn from some of the things that have gone wrong in order to move forward, making sure the agencies are working together."

"With Eystna the services failed and I think that in order to improve, other agencies need to look at what Citizens Advice are

Former record shop owner dies at 86

A FORMER record shop owner whose premises in Harlow town centre were a magnet for music fans has died at the age of 86.

Joseph Smith, who ran Startime Records in Post Office Walk and West Walk for more than three decades, passed away on Friday following a chest infection.

His son, Mark, said: "So many people have memories of him as the shops were part of Harlow's history. He was well known for his love of country and western and Irish music."

"When he retired he enjoyed bowling and painting. Even though he couldn't draw very well he did lots and lots of paintings and developed a real passion. Some of his works were put on display."

He added: "We were work colleagues and best friends as well as father and son."

Mr Smith grew up in Bethnal Green and was married to wife, Margaret, who died in 2014. They raised their family in Romford but Mr Smith was always a trader in Harlow.

After the closure of the shops he continued to trade in Harlow market for several years.

He leaves behind three daughters - Susan, 60,

Kim, 56, and Beverley, 51 - and son Mark, 49, as well as eight grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Mr Smith's funeral will take place on Friday, February 5 at Manor Park Cemetery and Crematorium in Forest Gate.

Introducing the Star Tog Squad

Chance to share your passion for photography

THIS week we are showcasing some of the work by members of the newly-formed Harlow Star Tog Squad.

The idea is to give readers who have an interest in photography the chance to share their work online and in print – and to meet other people with a similar passion for pictures.

The Tog Squad is open to anyone who loves taking photos, whether you are using a mobile phone or the latest Canon.

We have set up a Facebook group where you can share ideas and photos, ask for advice and talk about your love of photography. And we will be featuring your work in our themed online galleries and in the paper.

Star editor Ken Morley, said: "Everyone takes photos nowadays, whether it is a quick selfie, a holiday snapshot or a carefully posed landscape scene.

"We hope the Tog Squad will help some of these keen amateurs to grow in confidence and progress to taking better photos for themselves and for their families to enjoy."

The Harlow Star Tog Squad is open to all ages and is easy to join. All you have to do is visit www.facebook.com and search Harlow Star Tog Squad. Then you can start posting your pictures.

In brief

Post Office branch will close for refurbishment

POTTER STREET: The Post Office in Prentice Place will close for two weeks next month for refurbishment works to take place.

Some 8,000 branches around the country will be modernised under £1.34bn Government plans to update post offices and stop closures.

The changes at the branch include installation of a low-level counter and hearing loop.

The branch will close on Wednesday, February 10 and open again on Monday, February 22.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon said: "It is good news that the Post Office are investing in Harlow."

Anniversary market

MATCHING TYE: An indoor farmers market will celebrate its 100th continuous event on Saturday.

The market, which is run by volunteers, is held in the village hall from 10am-12noon on the third Saturday of the month.

Saturday's anniversary market will be opened by Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

There will be entertainment for younger visitors provided by Martin Cox of Harlow-based Comedy of Magic. There will also be a celebration cake.

Fined for obstruction

HARLOW: A man was fined £80 and ordered to pay court costs after pleading guilty to obstructing a police officer.

Jason Gittens, 21, who is unemployed and of no fixed address, was charged by Essex Police after the incident on Thursday, December 3.

In addition to the fine he was ordered to pay a £20 victim surcharge and court costs of £105.

FIRE chiefs have revealed details of three options for the future of the Essex County Fire and Rescue Service, including one which would see the removal of the second fire engine from Harlow Fire Station.

The three options were due to be discussed by members of the fire authority yesterday (Wednesday) and, if approved, will be the subject of a 12-week consultation exercise starting next month.

All three options propose reductions in the number of watch-based wholetime firefighters and an increase in on-call firefighters.

ECFRS has been told that its multi-million pound grant from central government, which make up around 20 per cent of its annual budget, will disappear by 2020.

As a result it has drawn up the proposals to prepare for a future where the emphasis will be on an increased focus on prevention and a commitment to become financially sustainable.

Acting Chief Fire Officer Adam Eckley said: "The demands on the service have changed dramatically over the last decade.

"We now attend less than half the number of incidents we did just a decade ago and, along with other UK fire services, we face a dramatic reduction in the way in which we are funded.

"As a result we need to look at how we resource our response, protection and prevention responsibilities and ensure we have the correct balance."

Last year the service completed the first stage of the largest consultation it has ever undertaken and has used the results to develop 10 options for change. These were then whittled down to the three which were discussed by fire authority yesterday.

All the options ensure firefighters can reach 90 per cent of incidents within 15 minutes and all life-threatening calls in an average of 10 minutes.

"At this stage it is important to understand that nothing has been ruled in or out," said Mr Eckley.

The public consultation process will launch at the start of next month with residents being given the chance to comment by various methods including online, telephone or post.

WELL DONE: Emily with her certificate and t-shirt

She's amazing! Emily, 7, walks 10 miles to raise cash for children's charity

A SEVEN year-old girl has raised almost £2,000 for charity after successfully completing a 10-mile sponsored walk.

Emily Clements set off from her home in Broadfield, Harlow, to her grandparents' house in Sheering Mill Lane, Sawbridgeworth. Once she arrived she turned round and walked back.

Her efforts in aid of The Rainbow Trust, a charity which provides support for families caring for a child with a life-threatening or terminal illness, has impressed teachers and children at The Downs Primary School where she is a pupil.

The school supported her by holding a non-uniform day as a result of which Emily was able to present the charity with the sum of £1,848.

Accompanied by her mum Julie, she completed the walk in four hours and 27 minutes and was presented with a Rainbow Trust t-shirt and certificate in recognition of her achievement.

Julie, 37, said afterwards: "She came home from school one day and said they had been learning about British charities.

"She said she wanted to do something for The Rainbow Trust. She wanted to do a bake sale but as that would have meant a lot of work for me she came up with the idea of a run and then a walk.

"I'm completely proud of her. It is unbelievable that she is seven years old and is giving up her pocket money for charity. She is amazing and I hope she can keep doing it."

Motorway is closed for seven hours after crash

Firefighters cut driver from wreckage after car crashes into tree

star@hertsexnews.co.uk

A DRIVER is recovering in hospital after suffering serious injuries in an accident which closed a stretch of the M11 near Harlow for more than seven hours.

Police are appealing for witnesses to Friday evening's crash, which happened on the northbound carriageway between junction 6 for the M25 and junction 7 at Harlow.

A blue Nissan Micra left the carriageway and crashed into a tree before ending up on its roof.

The driver, a 47-year-old man from Braintree, was cut free from the wreckage of his vehicle by firefighters and was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge where he is said to be in a stable condition.

Debris from his car struck a green Jaguar which was also travelling northwards. The four occupants of that car were not injured.

The accident happened shortly before 6pm and the northbound carriageway was closed until the early hours of Saturday while the vehicles were cleared.

Some motorists, including passengers heading for Stansted Airport who missed their flights, were stuck on the affected stretch for up to five hours.

A spokeswoman for Essex Police said: "Motorists are thanked for their patience whilst the road closure was in place."

Anyone who saw the accident is asked to call PC Daniel Corr at the road policing unit in Chigwell on Essex Police 101.

■ THE driver of a lorry was killed when his vehicle overturned at the junction of the M25 and M11 motorways on Sunday night.

The lorry, which was travelling on the northbound sliproad to the M11, collided with a pillar on a road bridge.

The slip road from the anti-clockwise M25 to the northbound M11 and from the northbound M11 to the clockwise M25 were both closed all day and diversions were put in place while an investigation was carried out.

Teams from Highways England cleared the carriageway of a "considerable" amount of debris as well as diesel fuel which had spilled from the lorry.

They also had to assess the damage caused to the bridge which was struck as well as to the surface of the carriageway.

Both slip roads were eventually reopened on Monday evening.

Supercar wrecked in m-way smash

THE owner of this £200,000 supercar escaped unscathed after it crashed on the M11 north of Harlow.

Although the Ferrari 458 Spider - which can accelerate from 0-62mph (100km/h) in three seconds and has a top speed of 210mph (340km) - was badly damaged, there were no reports of anyone being injured.

Police said no other vehicle was involved in the accident which happened on Thursday on the southbound carriageway of the motorway between junction 9 and junction 8 shortly before 1.30pm.

Just imagine...

Your own retirement property complete with landscaped grounds, and ornamental lake

IMAGINE living in a home with its own beautifully landscaped grounds; ornamental lakeside walks; and communal facilities to share with your neighbours.

Add to that an active social calendar and special interest groups and you start to get a sense of retirement living at Moat Park, an age exclusive retirement village in Great Easton, near Great Dunmow.

Residents live in a range of independent living one and two-bedroom apartments providing the best of both worlds - enjoying your own space but also being part of a vibrant and friendly community.

Focal point for many residents is the communal clubhouse where they meet for a bite to eat, a morning coffee or early evening drink.

There is also the peace of mind that support and care services are available should you need them at any stage.

A typical two bedroom apartment comprises hall, sitting room, kitchen with integrated appliances, main bedroom with ensuite, a second bedroom and bathroom.

There are now only a handful of these apartments still available for sale on a leasehold basis.

"We are also adding two luxury cottages to our portfolio at Moat Park," said Sarah Burgess, Sales and Marketing Director for Retirement Villages.

Both cottages include integrated kitchen, lounge/diner, sun lounge, ground floor shower room, three double bedrooms, bathroom and ensuite.

"There are lots of different living options at Moat Park; it's not surprising this is one of our most popular locations," added Sarah.

SCHOOLS: Life outside, growth and awards

Pupils fulfil their burning ambitions...

PUPILS enjoyed a woodland adventure when they left the confines of their classroom for a surprise trip into the great outdoors.

The children in the Reception class along with youngsters in Years 5 and 6 at Little Parndon Primary School, in Park Mead, Harlow, were taken on a trip to nearby Parndon Wood to broaden their learning horizon.

The three year groups had sessions of imaginative play, creative storytelling and relationship building.

The youngest studied the fairy tale The Three Bears while Year 5 looked at team building and Year 6 considered the scenic surroundings a perfect backdrop to study Macbeth.

Headteacher Sophie Laing said: "The wood is a much richer, more exciting environment to learn in.

"It is far more interesting than the four walls of a classroom and is an adventure for them. In fact, the children are learning without even

FIRING THEIR IMAGINATION: Youngsters at Little Parndon Primary School had lessons in Parndon Wood

She added: "The school is committed to starting each new topic with an exciting experience, such as time spent in the woods."

Expansion work will be ready for September intake

Ken Morley

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MILLIONS of pounds are to be spent on expanding two primary schools after final business cases for both schemes were approved.

Building work at Pear Tree Mead Academy, in Pear Tree Mead, Harlow, and St Andrew's C of E Primary, in School Green Lane, North Weald, will be completed in time for the new academic year in September.

Library

Essex County Council is spending £1.7m at Pear Tree Mead Academy to improve existing buildings and build an extension containing four new classrooms, a library and group rooms.

The project, which will link the former infant and junior school sites, will create a further 105 places, increasing the school's capacity from 315 pupils to 420 over a period of seven years.

Meanwhile, the £1.9m project at St Andrew's will see the construction of a new infant block housing two reception and two Year One classrooms. An existing Reception classroom will also be extended to create a new Key Stage 1 classroom, while the main hall will be extended and other rooms remodelled.

The works will also create a further 105 places, increasing the school's capacity from 315 pupils to 420.

The final business cases for both projects were approved last month, with work at St Andrew's expected to start today (Thursday) and be completed by September. Works at Pear Tree Mead Academy will begin next month and are scheduled for completion by October, in advance of when the additional space is required.

Cllr Ray Gooding, cabinet member for education and lifelong learning at Essex County Council, said: "Pupil numbers in Essex have risen dramatically over recent years and projections suggest the increased demand for school places is likely to continue."

Committed

"As a council, we are committed to ensuring the county has the infrastructure it needs to grow and are planning to spend about £200m over the next five years on creating new school places across Essex."

"I am delighted to see these projects getting under way and look forward to seeing the two schools grow."

Students feted for their achievements

THE achievements and abilities of students have been celebrated at a Pupil Awards ceremony in Birmingham.

Three students – Callum Sullivan, Ashleigh Callaghan and Jude Mante – from Mark Hall Academy, in First Avenue, Harlow, were rewarded for going the extra mile when they received certificates from two members of the Britain's Got Talent winning dance troupe Diversity.

Callum Sullivan received his award in writing competition while Ashleigh won the innovation and community award. And Mark Hall Academy head teacher Corinne Franceschi was particularly glowing in her praise for Jude, who received the transformational progress award. "When Jude started with us he lacked confidence which was impacting on his progress," she said. "However, after various strategies to help him with his confidence he became more confident and determined to improve."

Meanwhile, more than 40 members of the judo club of Kingsmoor Academy, in Ployters Road, Harlow, crammed onto the stage to pick up the Outstanding Team award.

Both Mark Hall and Kingsmoor are part of the Academy Transformation Trust which organised the awards, the first time they have been held.

Campaign to start up new youth centre

COMMUNITY groups in Harlow have joined forces to launch a campaign to start a youth centre in a little-used facility in the town.

The coalition of groups, headed by St Paul's Church, want to see Blackbush Springs Common Room (pictured above), in Minchen Road, put to better use to fulfil its public service remit.

Proposals and suggestions are currently at a consultation stage, with an online survey asking young people what they would want from a youth centre.

A committee, which is also formed of members of ROC Harlow and the National Citizenship Service, has expressed a desire to use the centre primarily to help young people.

"We are going to call it The Unity Hub Harlow," said Jordan Newman, from the Unity Church which meets at the centre. "We want it to provide services to young people aged 12-19 as well as the elderly community and mothers with toddlers, but the idea is to have it open for all."

"It can be used as a place to meet and socialise, helping people to connect and have fun."

Mr Newman added: "The building has suffered from years of neglect but not vandalism. It has no heating, limited power and the last time it was worked on was in the 1970s so it needs to be refurbished."

For more information about the campaign, email Mr Newman at blackbush.spring1@gmail.com.

Gardens fundraiser for air ambulance charity

KEEN gardeners are being encouraged to show off their skills in a summer fundraiser in aid of the Essex & Herts Air Ambulance Trust.

EHAAT is urging supporters to open up their gardens to family, friends and neighbours as part of its Summer of Open Gardens season.

Ken Crowther, who has presented BBC Essex's Saturday morning gardening programme for almost 30 years, has become the campaign's first ambassador.

The fundraising initiative takes place across Essex from April to September.

Participants can register the date of their event with the charity and request A Summer of Open Gardens fundraising pack filled with gardening and fundraising tips.

To request a pack, visit EHAAT.uk.com, email opengardens@EHAAT.uk.com or call 0345 2417 690.

Online safety roadshow

A ROADSHOW promoting online safety to children will be stopping off in Harlow next week.

Put together by a team from the non-profit organisation Keep Children Safe Online CIC, the roadshow is targeted at youngsters under the age of 13. It will be in the Harvey Centre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Children will be guided through a specially-created jungle and invited to take part in a quiz and workshops to test and improve their knowledge of issues including cyber-bullying, grooming and sexting.

Schools and community groups have been invited to take part and Harlow Council chairman Tony Hall will be attending.

FLYING VISIT: X Factor twins spend time signing autographs and taking photographs

Jedward jet into Stansted for fans' meet and greet

X-FACTOR twins Jedward visited Stansted Airport on Monday as part of a World Peace Tour of airports across Europe.

The Irish popsters – real names John and Edward Grimes – are travelling to 19 airports across Europe to give fans a chance to meet them and “defy the current fears about terrorism”.

And while they did not treat their fans to any kind of musical performance, they were happy to chat and take selfies.

It was their second meet-and-greet stopover at Stansted in a matter of days. On Friday they arrived by car for an appearance after their flight was diverted to Luton Airport.

The twins found fame on ITV's X-Factor in 2009 where they finished in sixth place

BAILEY DENIS

Irene and family would like to thank family, friends and neighbours for the sympathy cards they have received and for the beautiful floral arrangements for Denis and their attendance at his funeral.

We would also like to thank most sincerely, Denis's G.P Dr Gohar and all his staff at Sydenham House Surgery for the care always shown to Denis and also the Nursing Staff on the Williams Day Haematology Transfusion Unit at P.A.H 'for being there' for Denis for the past four years. He really did look forward to seeing them once a month for his 'couple of Pintas' and they were always lovely to him.

We shall always be grateful to the people who donate their blood.
Bless you all.

Thousands use town's weekend GP service

WEEKEND APPOINTMENTS: Left to right, Jez Davies, Debbie Bodhanya, Nadia Savidge and Renier van Zyl of the the Stellar Healthcare team who run the Saturday and Sunday GP service in Harlow

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A NEW weekend GP service in Harlow has been used by more than 2,000 patients since its launch in October.

The majority of those using the pilot service are people in employment who may not be able to attend appointments during the week.

Debbie Bodhanya, chief executive of Stellar Healthcare which is one of the organisations running the service, said this week: "GP practices are under extreme pressure nationally and the demand for appointments is increasing. This service will help to relieve that demand."

The NHS service based at the Hamilton Practice in Bush Fair and is currently available on Saturdays and Sundays. Appointments must be booked through a patient's own GP surgery as it is not a walk-in service.

Most GP practices in Harlow are taking bookings for the service which gives patients access to a GP, practice nurse or healthcare assistant.

Appointments are available for people with long terms conditions such as asthma and diabetes as well as more routine healthcare issues.

One patient who made use of the service said afterwards: "I was seen promptly at a convenient time when I could have waited two weeks at my own doctors."

The pilot service is currently funded through a grant from the Prime Minister's Access Fund and is managed by two local GP companies – Stellar Healthcare and Uttlesford Health. For more information please go to www.weekendgpservice.net.

Station platform closed for reconstruction work

RAIL passengers who use Roydon station are facing six weeks of disruption.

The London-bound platform will be closed until Sunday, February 28 while reconstruction work is carried out.

Trains heading towards London will not stop at Roydon and passengers who use the station are being advised to travel from Harlow Town or Broxbourne. A normal service will operate from London to Roydon and beyond.

A spokesman for train operator Abellio Greater Anglia said: "We are grateful to passengers for their co-operation while the platform reconstruction works are carried out at Roydon."

"We apologise for any inconvenience caused to journeys as a result of the service alterations that are in place whilst these important works continue."

NEW YEAR NEW YOU &gt; Positive thinking

Thinking positive can help to change your life

Celebrate your body instead of looking for flaws, and chances are everything will fall into place...

So another year is done. You could roll out that clichéd list of New Year resolutions once again – but will it really make you happy? How about trying a different approach and, instead of dwelling on your so-called flaws and failures and the punishing regimes and denials you'll need to enforce to 'fix' them, opt to reward yourself a little bit more instead?

Here are three negative New Year clichés to ditch and some more uplifting (and, quite possibly, more likely to work) alternatives to switch to...

■ DITCH: 'I'm fat – I must lose weight'

■ SWITCH: 'I will cherish my body and treat it with the TLC it deserves'

Here's the thing, wanting to maintain a healthy weight is a good idea, and it is important that you're happy with your body – but that is not the same thing as feeling pressure to be 'perfect'.

First, you have to learn to accept yourself, and to believe that you deserve to look after and love yourself. No, that doesn't always come easy. But, stepping away from negative patterns – the self scrutiny and punishment/the destructive or emotional eating patterns – will help.

Stop focusing on why you don't think your body is good enough and instead start treating it well, by eating things that are good for you, cherishing your sleep, indulging in a skincare and pampering regime that makes you feel good and exercising for the simple reason that it's good for you and makes you feel good.

You deserve these things. And do you know what? Over time, confidence will grow. Your body will amaze you in ways you perhaps never dreamt possible, you'll realise there is far more to you and to life than the size of your jeans and your weight will balance out in a healthy, sustainable way.

■ DITCH: 'I must get a better job/buy a house'

■ SWITCH: 'I will take more moments to feel grateful'

There is nothing wrong with wanting a 'better' job or to get on the property ladder, of course – this isn't really about that. It's about that pesky trap of getting hung up on things we think we 'should' be doing or achieving – perhaps because society engineers us to feel that way or because it's easier to cling on to a ready-made marker of success/happiness, one that's external to us and possibly seems out of our control, instead of taking a step back to think about what we genuinely need and want, and having the courage to pursue that.

Maybe that six-figure salary will never be for you. Maybe, for the next two decades or so, the property ladder is simply out of reach (or whatever metaphor applies).

You're still allowed to be happy and proud of your successes – if you let yourself, and if you choose to broaden your definition of success. It's a choice we can make, and getting into the habit of feeling grateful for the good things in our lives (especially those little everyday things so easily taken for granted) is a great place to start.

Gratitude teaches us about who we really are and where we get our kicks, helps us keep a sense of perspective and builds us a 'happiness armoury' that's so much easier to maintain than hanging all of our self-worth on life's biggies, like salaries and mortgages.

■ DITCH: 'I must go to the gym at least three times a week (even though I hate it)'

■ SWITCH: 'I'm going to find something I love

doing – and do it because I love it'

Hands up if you've ever made the pledge: I will start going to the gym... once I've lost some weight. Or how about this one: I'll take up cycling – once I've got fit. You KNOW that your weight loss and fitness efforts stand a much bigger chance if you actually get up and do the exercise, but you're intimidated.

You're not sure you can do it, and you're embarrassed to be seen trying (plus, it'll be really hard work, right?).

I can't remember the number of times I've felt like a total imposter in a new exercise class/the pool/amid a sea of Lycra-clad 'proper' cyclists. The thing is, I've discovered something life-changing...once you fall in love with being active, none of that really matters. Screw everyone else and screw those insecurities – this is about you, your endorphin high, you being totally kickass (in your own big or small way) and you doing something simply for the joy of it.

If you haven't found 'the one', keep looking – exercise is about so much more than ticking boxes at the gym.

NEW YEAR NEW YOU &gt; Making changes

Make it all about you

STILL eating to excess, when you resolved to cut down after New Year's Day? Still drinking, when you vowed you'd get on the wagon on January 1?

Each year, millions of us make New Year resolutions to quit alcohol, carbs, smoking and a plethora of other temptations, or vow to do more exercise, be nicer to people and tackle other perceived weaknesses.

Each year, most of us fail.

But making small changes over time, instead of drastic ones overnight, can make a massive difference, says Nora Rosendahl, pictured, former management consultant and co-author of The Book Of You, developed from the popular YOU-app, which now boasts more than 120,000 followers since being launched in 2014 in collaboration with Jamie Oliver, who contributes all of the food actions and challenges.

Rosendahl's belief is that bite-sized self-improvement – in the form of micro-actions, encouraging users to focus on one simple action a day – is key to building a happier, healthier you.

"It's about self-discipline but it's also about doing things in the community and your surroundings, which encourage you to change. It's not about the guilt trip form of dieting and depriving yourself of things, but rather to focus on the positive."

The three authors – Nelli Lahteenmaki and Aleks Hoffman, YOU-app co-founders, also penned the book – have all themselves made small changes in their lives.

"For me personally, it was more about finding a work/life balance," Rosendahl recalls.

"I used to work really long hours, to the point where I was really tired. I changed very small things, one thing at a time, to get out of that difficult everyday routine.

"I decided not to have a meal in front of my laptop and not to have any digital devices around when I had meals or was with someone, so that I gave myself text-free time.

"I ditched the car and walked to work. I used to have a big clean-up in the house on Saturdays and it led to me hating Saturdays. So I took up the habit of straightening something out, or picking something up off the floor every time I left the room [instead]."

Now, her Saturdays aren't associated merely with cleaning, and Rosendahl believes the app took off so well because so much self-improvement is about depriving yourself. Her mantra is to do something positive instead.

Micro-actions, like standing up during the day at work and walking around the office, can make a big difference.

"I got into the habit of standing at work for 20 minutes, which really helps to keep you more alert. It may look odd, but if people knew what sitting down does to your body, it's crazy. Standing for three hours every working day, for a year, uses the same energy as running 10 marathons."

The Book Of You contains 365 micro-actions, one for each day of the year, in four categories: Mind, Food, Move and Love, with expert hosts for each.

For those who have problems with food, micro-actions include making sure you always plate your food before you eat, and not eating standing up or on the move.

"Even if it's just a biscuit, put it on a plate and don't eat it until you're sitting down. It's a small action but it shows to you how much you eat and makes you think twice about it."

Others include doing two-minute workouts during the working day. If you're waiting for the kettle to boil, do some exercise like squats instead of playing a game on your phone. "I do squats when I brush my teeth," says Rosendahl.

"Micro-actions make you feel successful. They are small, manageable and achievable. It's about the small things you can do today which make you feel good, which slowly build into your life so they become the norm."

"If you do a lot of micro-actions one by one and keep them up, you are going to completely revolutionise your life," Rosendahl insists. "It's the sum of the small things you do every day which will make all the difference."

NEW YEAR NEW YOU &gt; Zumba

It's Zumba fever for TOWIE's Lydia

When it comes to mixing work and play, mother-and-daughter team Lydia Bright and Debbie Douglas have it down to a fine art.

Not only does the comical duo share a close family bond and screen time as co-stars of ITVBe reality soap The Only Way Is Essex (TOWIE), they now split the duty of official ambassador for Universal Pictures' latest DVD, Zumba, too.

And while Douglas, in her early 50s, comes up trumps in the longevity stakes ("I've been doing Zumba longer than Lydia"), both are proud to assert their position as long-term fans of the dance fitness program – and the "laughs" and social community that come with it.

"It's for all ages!" notes a jovial Bright.

"It's so hard to find an exercise that you can do with your mum – and sometimes my nan even comes along. It's something that everyone can have fun with as you can do it at your own ability; if you want a more intense workout, you just do the steps a little bit harder."

The DVD, which features three fitness workouts: Step-by-Step, Dance, Dance! and Super Cardio Dance Party, caters to amateurs and seasoned Zumba-ers, which Douglas credits with "allowing you to see if you really like it before joining a class at the local church hall".

"When people are chilly they do want to be in the comfort of their own homes and that's where fitness DVDs come in handy. I think that's why so many people buy them as Christmas presents, as January is even colder," vouches Bright.

And while it seems Zumba's having a bit of a revolution of late, there's one person who doesn't get to go along to the classes – and that's TOWIE's James 'Arg' Argent, Bright's on-off boyfriend.

"I don't know why we haven't taken him yet, because he'd love it. He's a fantastic dancer, so we should definitely think about taking him along. Maybe that will be his New Year's resolution!"

Aside from Zumba, both enjoy an active lifestyle – 'enjoy' being the word.

"I know I look really, really good, but I'm in the older generation," Douglas teases.

"I've done years of running club, spinning class and step aerobics, but I just like to walk now. I'm part of the Buckhurst Hill dog walkers (why does everyone laugh when I say that?). There are about ten women between 50 and 60 years old and we take all of our dogs and walk for miles – that's a lot of exercise!"

While Bright, 25, has a good few years to go before she makes the 'Buckhurst' cut, the apple certainly doesn't fall far from the tree.

"I'm more of a class kinda person; I don't like going to the gym by myself because I really lose focus. Zumba and pilates are my weekly ones and then I'll just throw in a body attack or whatever's going!"

As for healthy eating, it's a case of 'everything in moderation' – code for 'we all deserve a good scoff once in a while'.

"I never use the word 'diet'; it's about changing your lifestyle and eating healthily," Douglas states, adopting a maternal pose.

"It doesn't mean to say you can never eat a chocolate biscuit; just don't eat a whole packet!"

"I used to be a real chocoholic, but I've really gone off it lately. I don't know why. I don't think I'm pregnant or anything..." she says, smiling wryly.

NEW YEAR NEW YOU &gt; Cranberry power

Berries not just for Christmas!

DON'T forget about cranberries once the festive condiments have been cleared away. Here are seven super health reasons to keep them on the menu

With their deep red hue and vibrant sheen, cranberries certainly look the festive part – and taste particularly delicious in sauce form slathered on turkey – but there's no reason why these juicy fruits should be forgotten about the rest of the year.

In fact, they are bursting with potential health benefits, not to mention being super-versatile too (ever tried baking dried ones into scones?). Here, experts outline seven reasons to cram in more cranberries...

Bladder health

"Cranberries have been used for centuries by Native Americans to treat urinary tract infections, and there's lots of research being done now to explain why these tart little berries are so bladder friendly," says nutritionist Marilyn Glenville (www.marilynglenville.com).

"The first study to scientifically confirm this health benefit was undertaken in 1994, where women given 300ml of cranberry juice a day were found to suffer less than half the incidence of urinary tract infections as the placebo-ingesting control group.

"It was originally believed that cranberry juice reduced the symptoms of cystitis by making the urine more acidic – obviously not a desirable effect, as it is the acidic urine that causes the burning sensation.

"We now know that cranberries work in a completely different way. It seems that certain substances in cranberries can stop bacteria, such as E. coli, from sticking to the walls of the urinary tract. For bacteria to infect your urinary tract, they must first stick to the mucosal [mucous membrane lining] walls of the tract. If they are unable to do so, they cannot multiply and are flushed from the body when you urinate."

However, Glenville warns: "Using cranberry juice which is sweetened with sugar is not going to be helpful, so you should either use an unsweetened cranberry juice – with no artificial sweeteners either – or take it in a concentrated dried form as a supplement."

Immune health

They could help us keep coughs and colds at bay too, according to Nature's Best nutritionist Keri Filtness (www.naturesbest.co.uk), as they contain nutrients that support immune function. "Cranberries are an excellent source of vitamin C, which can contribute to the normal function of the immune system," says Filtness.

Dental health

The same properties that stop bacteria from sticking to the wall of the urinary tract – thought to be antioxidant proanthocyanidins – have been shown to "inhibit the HSV-2 herpes virus, and the Helicobacter pylori bacteria that are increasingly recognised as a leading cause of peptic ulcers and the growth of oral bacteria, which cause dental plaque and periodontal disease", says Glenville.

Heart health

According to Glenville, "studies have also found that cranberries, which contain high levels of other antioxidant flavonoids and polyphenols, can reduce the risk of atherosclerosis, which is caused by 'bad' LDL cholesterol silting up arteries, reducing blood flow and leading to angina, thrombosis and heart attacks".

Allergy busting

Filtness says: "These berries also contain a compound called quercetin, which is thought to reduce inflammation and may help with allergies."

Memory and mental health

"Research to come out of the Human Nutrition Research Centre on Aging at Tufts University in the US, suggests that diets rich in foods with high levels of antioxidants and other phytonutrients, such as cranberries, could protect against chronic age-related afflictions, such as loss of memory and mental acuity," notes Glenville.

Skin health

"The antioxidant proanthocyanidins, which give cranberries their distinctive, bright red colour, are thought to support the production, and reduce the breakdown, of collagen, which may have an effect on skin elasticity and strength," says Filtness.

The top 10 unusual items eaten by dogs

IF your family owns a dog you will probably know that however much you give them to eat they are always hungry for more.

But a new survey shows it is not only dog food that ends up in the stomachs of our canine companions. A nine-inch knitting needle, a rubber chicken and a pair of underpants are among some of the more bizarre items recovered from pooches undergoing surgery.

Other items included the head of a Barbie doll, a baby's dummy, some Christmas tinsel and a whole baked potato.

The survey was carried out by Vets4Pets, which has 353 practices around the country.

Dr Huw Stacey, director of clinical services, said: "Golf balls, ping pong balls and pebbles are commonly found but the list we've compiled demonstrates that dogs can find a huge variety of items to eat, with or without their owner's knowledge.

"Of course dogs can often consume items left lying around the house or garden so it's important owners are aware of what their pet is doing in case of an emergency."

He added: "Like all pets, dogs have dietary requirements and it's important they receive a balanced diet which doesn't include items such as chocolate, chicken bones or grapes."

Players will be enjoying the spirits

MOOT House Players' latest performance Laying the Ghost proves once again that your family is your greatest source of comedy.

Simon Williams' play centres around witty ex-actress Margot Buchanan, who is visited by her dysfunctional relatives in her retirement home on her 70th birthday.

But tragedy strikes when ex-husband Leo suffers a fatal heart attack, leaving Margot to face up to his current wife Judy and a young actress, Leo's latest bit on the side.

Social meltdown can only be prevented by the action of Margot's psychic Freda, who is the only one with the ability to talk to Leo's ghost.

The play will star many Moot House favourites including Joan Lanario, Ros Barron, Bridget McAlpine, Dan Powell and Henrietta Branwell.

Henrietta said: "It is a comedy, nothing too serious, and it is really good fun to watch."

"My character, Freda, is able to talk to the ghost and everyone else thinks she is as batty as a fruit cake."

"Freda is the oldest character and great to play."

Moot House Players typically stage five productions a year and Henrietta has been part of both the directing and acting over the past 12 months.

She said the first play of any year does conjure up its challenges.

"We started work on the play in November, but obviously we had a lot of disruption over the Christmas period," added Henrietta.

"We feel like we're picking ourselves up again now and it has been hard to remember where we were at."

"For that reason, I feel the first play of the year is always the hardest one to perform."

Anne Farr directs the play which will be performed for three nights at the end of the month at Moot House, The Stow, Harlow.

■ Moot House Players will perform Laying the Ghost from Thursday, January 28 to Saturday, January 30. Tickets are now on sale costing £8 full price and £6 for concessions. To make a booking, call 01279 639170.

THE highest culture will light up Harlow's most famous stage when the Russian State Opera return next month.

Fresh from selling-out Harlow Playhouse for a stunning take on the Nutcracker ballet, the multi-talented company is gearing up for Madam Butterfly.

The Playhouse Square venue will be the third stop on a country-spanning tour and audiences can expect to be wowed and heartbroken through the classic tragedy.

Madam Butterfly is a doomed love story of an American naval lieutenant and his young Japanese wife, as told through the most famous music of Giacomo Puccini.

While based in Nagasaki, the protagonist Lt Pinkerton defies cultural and family boundaries to marry the beautiful Cio Cio San before he is forced to leave Japan.

However, in his absence, Cio Cio San has the couple's baby, but falls depressed as she begins to lose hope that Pinkerton will ever return.

But when the lieutenant does come back will it be happily ever after?

The one night only performance will be a rare treat for Harlow audiences to enjoy an opera in the town.

Alexej Ingatow, producer of the show and chief executive of the Russian State Opera said the aim of the tour is to break down culture barriers to make the show accessible to all.

"Opera and ballet is often thought to be difficult and elitist, but this is not so," he said.

"Both forms are timeless and, like any art, they need to be presented in an accessible and attractive way to our audiences."

"Amande Concerts (who manage the company) aims to stage our productions in a classical, traditional style that is familiar to all and makes them as accessible as possible."

The traditional and authentic style sees live musicians accompany the singing to do justice to the Puccini music.

While the vocal parts are in traditional Italian, audiences can follow with subtitles - using a translation projected above the stage.

Alexej added: "No experience is needed to enjoy these classics."

"The set and costumes, an informative programme and surtitles make the productions easy to follow and enjoy."

The Russian State Opera will perform Madam Butterfly at Harlow Playhouse on Thursday, February 4 at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £31 and can be bought online from www.playhouseharlow.com/.

It's fight night with silky Sammy Smooth

WITH lighting moves and trendy style, Sam Stoker, aka Sammy Smooth, is British wrestling's most promising and fashionable star.

Dressed in leather with slicked-back hair, Sam cuts a resemblance to John Travolta in Grease, and he even walks onto stage to the tune of Greased Lightning.

But don't be fooled by the pretty boy image. Sam is a mean wrestler, who has International Pro Wrestling UK All England champion and a five-match unbeaten run to his name.

Sam is hoping to make it six in a row when he takes to the ring at Paringdon Sports Club, Harlow, this Sunday.

"My love for wrestling began with WWE when I was eight, but as most people grew out of wrestling, my love continued," said Sam, now 22.

"I started training for ITW in 2014, which lasted for about six months, as you have to learn all the techniques and the safety."

"It was a lot of hard work, but I stuck at it and kept going. Now I am taking part in the shows every weekend."

Sam does not yet know his opponent for this weekend's clash, as he will be facing the last man standing from a riotous 10-man rumble.

But despite being small in stature, the man from Newcastle via Buckinghamshire fancies his chances against anyone.

"I am looking forward to it – it makes it interesting not knowing who I am taking on," said Sam.

"I am not the biggest, but I am a very technical wrestler and I now have experience of nearly 70 fights under my belt."

"Thankfully, I am yet to have any breakages, but every Monday morning I wake up aching from the weekend's fight.

"We consider wrestling to be sport for entertainment and there are some moves for show – but it is very physical and everything you see is real, none of the shows are choreographed.

"We kind of work it out in the ring," he added.

"Each fight lasts from eight to 20 minutes and the whole show lasts around three hours. There are tag team events, women's fights and something for everyone really.

"Sometimes we do an over-18s show, but the Harlow one will be for families and kids to enjoy."

Sam is currently a part-time semi-pro wrestler and is hoping to achieve his ultimate goal of cracking America. Having grown up watching The Rock and Stone Cold Steve Austin, the WWE is an obvious influence.

"Going to Germany was a great experience," said Sam of an excursion into Europe for a show.

"We got to fly over and the crowd were amazing, so that wasn't bad!"

"My goal is to go professional and the money is in America for that – so that is the aim."

While a career Stateside may be in the future, Sam is having the time of his life on the IPW tour and can't wait for the next fight.

"Wrestling is a sport for all to enjoy. My character is always the hero in any fight, I'd hate to be the villain and feel the hate of all the kids," he laughed.

■ IPW:UK and WrestleForce Live will be held on Sunday, January 17 at Paringdon Sports Club in Paringdon Road from 5pm. Tickets cost £9 from www.ipwuk.com/home.

OMID DJALILI

Starry line-up at Rhodes this spring season

FAMOUS faces from the worlds of television, comedy, theatre and sport are among highlights of Bishop's Stortford's Rhodes Arts Centre's spring programme.

Comedian and novelist Jenny Eclair, perhaps best known as a panellist on ITV's Loose Women, will deliver her show (Apr 7) How To Be A Middle Aged Woman (Without Going Insane).

Iranian-British comedian Omid Djalili will also appear (May 7).

Offering insight from world of sport, there will be talks from motor sport commentator and ex-motorcycle racer Steve Parrish (Feb 19), Arsenal legends Paul Merson and Perry Groves (Mar 22) and former Essex and England cricketer Graham Gooch and ex-West Ham footballer Alvin Martin (Apr 28).

Strictly Come Dancing fans can enjoy an evening with two stars of the show, Ian Waite and Camilla Dallerup (Apr 5).

Music will come from jazz trumpeter Digby Fairweather's Half Dozen band, playing swing, standards and Latin (Feb 5). More jazz comes from Snake Davis, who will play classic sax solos including Baker Street and Born To Run with his band (Apr 12).

A selection of local musical talent take to the stage at the Livewire Rock Academy showcase (Jan 22) as well as a return of the annual Rhodes Talent Search for its 2016 edition, finishing in May.

Bishop's Stortford Musical Theatre Company Juniors will perform the Tony Award-winning musical Thoroughly Modern Millie (Mar 10-12), Alan Bennett's History Boys will be performed by Phoenix Theatre Arts (Mar 15-19) and The Graham School of Dance will have its showcase (Mar 20).

Adults can enjoy an evening of burlesque at Let's Fall In Love (Feb 6).

Children's entertainment comes in the form of How The Koala Learnt To Hug (Feb 5-6), Beauty and the Beast (Feb 16), Egg and Spoon (Feb 17), The Jewels of Duckula (Feb 18) and music-based funky fun with Glastonbabes making a return (Apr 8).

PREVIEWS

FILMGUIDE

WORTH A WATCH

Mike's TV Film of the Week

THRILLER: THE LADY FROM SHANGHAI Film4, Friday, January 15, 3.30pm

HOLLYWOOD studios always had a deep suspicion of film-makers who thought of themselves as 'artists', and often took their work out of their hands and butchered it. Eric von Stroheim was a notable early victim, his nine-hour plus Greed reduced to about a quarter of that for its 1924 release and the excised material lost forever.

But probably no great director had as bad a time at the hands of studio bosses as Orson Welles. On the back of successes in the theatre and on radio, he swept into Hollywood in 1941 with a 'genius' tag around his neck and unheard-of carte blanche – especially for a complete novice. And made Citizen Kane. But then it all went wrong, very quickly. Kane was not a hit, and after he finished shooting his second film, The Magnificent Ambersons, it was taken away from him by RKO.

They cut, and lost forever, about an hour – basically the second half – and filmed a new, 'happy' ending. Because of the brilliance of what remains in both instances, it is generally considered a toss-up between Ambersons and Greed for the worst ever act of cinematic barbarism.

But what about the magnificently loopy film noir The Lady From Shanghai?

Written and directed by Welles in 1948, this is the film that finished him as anything other than an actor in Hollywood. It runs 82 minutes, but Welles' original, never-to-be-seen cut was getting on for twice that length. He stars, and provides occasional narration, as Irish sailor Michael O'Hara, who falls for the beautiful Elsa Bannister (Rita Hayworth with short, blonde hair) after rescuing her from attackers in a park.

The next thing he knows, he's being offered a job on the boat owned by Elsa's mega-rich, stick-using attorney husband Arthur (Everett Sloane). They are going on a nice little trip, along with Arthur's business partner George Grisby (Glenn Anders). Something, possibly murder, appears to be on everyone's mind except Michael's...

It's an extraordinary film, beautifully shot in black and white and packed with powerful, startling imagery. But it's also quite mad – confused, overwrought and hallucinatory, as if somebody put something nasty in its drink.

It ends in the fairground attraction The Crazy House, but really it's been there all the time.

Back on the Rocky road

Creed

DRAMA: (12A) 133 mins
Director: Ryan Coogler
Starring: Michael B Jordan, Sylvester Stallone, Tessa Thompson, Phylicia Rashad, Anthony Bellew, Andre Ward

Almost 40 years since Sylvester Stallone first donned his boxing gloves as Rocky Balboa, the Oscar-nominated actor delivers an emotional wallop as the retired prizefighter in Ryan Coogler's brooding and testosterone-fuelled drama.

It's a glorious return to form for the 69-year-old New Yorker, delivering one of his finest performances for decades as the iconic bruiser who faces a battle of attrition against an invisible adversary that can't be outmuscled in the ring.

With a revitalised Stallone in its corner, Creed taps into four decades of nostalgia, but as the title intimates, Balboa isn't the main attraction.

Instead, writer-director Coogler focuses on the ascendance of a young brawler (Michael B Jordan), whose tragic past is inextricably linked with Rocky's fading glory.

It's an interesting juxtaposition and the script, co-written by Aaron Covington, focuses heavily on the surrogate father-son relationship that underpins the usual array of training sequences and bruising skirmishes.

Sadly, the meticulous attention to detail of the breathlessly staged fights, including one set piece shot in a single take, doesn't extend to the characterisation. Jordan overcomes his protagonist's woes with scant blood, sweat or tears and a romantic subplot between the title character and a feisty singer-songwriter (Tessa Thompson) pulls its punches.

On these counts, Creed is a lightweight.

As an orphan growing up in 1990s Los Angeles, Adonis Johnson (Alex Henderson) ricochets between juvenile detention centres and care homes, until Mary Anne Creed (Phylicia Rashad) takes him in.

She is the first wife of his father, boxing legend Apollo Creed, who died in the ring before he was born.

Mary Anne nurtures Adonis and he blossoms into a caring man (now played by Jordan) with a steady job.

Boxing is in Adonis' blood and he turns down a promotion to chase his sporting dreams.

"I didn't take you in for you to go backwards. You're better than this!" despairs Mary Anne.

Unperturbed, Adonis heads to Philadelphia to seek out Rocky (Stallone), in the hope the boxing legend will become his trainer.

Despite initial misgivings, Rocky mentors Adonis and when the newcomer lands a lucrative televised bout with Liverpool hard man 'Pretty' Ricky Conlan (Anthony Bellew), the scene is set for a classic showdown between cocky champion and underdog.

"One step at a time, one punch at a time, one round at a time," advises Rocky, inspiring his hot-headed protegee to step out from the shadow of the father he never knew.

Creed doesn't deviate too far from a winning formula, allowing Stallone to pass on the mantle to a new generation.

Jordan is an instantly likeable sparring partner and he certainly meets the physical demands of the role with aplomb.

On-screen chemistry between the two men simmers nicely, even when the script descends into cloying sentiment and clichés.

DiCaprio mesmerises in survival tale

The Revenant

DRAMA: (15) 156 mins
Director: Alejandro Gonzalez Inarritu
Starring: Leonardo DiCaprio, Tom Hardy, Domhnall Gleeson

IF film awards were bestowed for dogged determination and perseverance in the face of seemingly insurmountable odds, The Revenant would sweep next month's Oscars.

Mexican auteur Alejandro Gonzalez Inarritu chose to shoot his sprawling historical epic in chronological order using natural light.

These bold aesthetic choices limited filming to just a couple of hours each day and when Mother Nature decided to withhold snow from the unforgiving

Canadian wilderness, the entire production moved to Argentina at considerable expense and the mood on set has been described as a "living hell".

It's not a journey into the heart of darkness for the sentimental or faint of heart. Explosions of violence are graphic and a horrifying bear attack early in the film unfolds in a single, unbroken take that shreds our nerves.

Leading man Leonardo DiCaprio plays 19th-century explorer Hugh Glass, who guides a team of fur trappers and hunters under the command of Captain Andrew Henry (Domhnall Gleeson). The men come under attack from Native Americans led by tribal chief Elk Dog (Duane Howard), whose daughter Powaga (Melaw Nakeh'o) has been kidnapped.

SURVIVOR'S STORY: Leonardo DiCaprio in The Revenant

The interlopers flee for their lives and Glass is subsequently injured in a mauling from a grizzly bear, which is protecting its cubs. Henry leaves behind two men, Fitzgerald (Hardy) and Bridger (Will Poulter), to tend to Glass and his son, Hawk (Forrest Goodluck), while the trappers head for safety.

Fitzgerald decides to expedite matters by killing Hawk and dragging Glass' near lifeless body into a freshly-dug grave. He regains consciousness and vows to hunt down the men who killed his boy.

DiCaprio is mesmerising, dragging his wounded body across frozen landscapes before locking horns with Hardy's scowling rival in an adrenaline-pumped climax.

The birds have flown in for another series

IF there's one show that needn't await an invite to return to British screens, it's Birds Of A Feather.

The Nineties favourite follows sisters Sharon Theodopolopodous and Tracey Stubbs, played respectively by Pauline Quirke and Linda Robson, who are left behind when their husbands are arrested for armed robbery, as well as their forever short-skirted next-door neighbour Dorien Green, brought to life by Lesley Joseph.

Having experienced the trio's laugh-out-loud (mis)adventures, winced at their mistakes and shared in their heartbreak, the sitcom classic – which was originally broadcast on BBC One from 1989-1998 and later revived on ITV in 2014 – has stood the test of time, and come out the other side more brilliant and chaotic than ever.

And with criminal encounters and a saucy tryst with guest star Martin Kemp on the cards, this series promises to be one of its best yet...

As the old saying goes, 'birds of a feather flock together', and for stars Quirke, Robson and Joseph, the phrase couldn't ring truer.

After a decade of unparalleled success and a 14-year hiatus, the trio reunited in 2012 for a stage adaptation, and admit it was this (the UK stage tour sold out twice) that spurred the show's small-screen return.

"When we ended Birds back in 1998, we'd decided at 10 years, we'd gone as far as we could go with it," explains Quirke, 56. "We'd done over 100 episodes so there was no, 'Let's leave it and see what happens' - it just happened because of the success of the stage tour."

Robson, 57, adds: "It brought people to the theatre who had never been before."

"People were sat with hen parties whirling things around, and people were breast-feeding on the front row - literally," Joseph echoes.

Re-establishing themselves as sitcom royalty, Birds Of A Feather celebrated its tenth series – and its first on ITV – two years ago, attracting nearly eight million viewers and the broadcaster's highest-rated comedy in 14 years.

Joseph credits "the unique combination on-screen of Sharon, Tracey and Dorien, and the connection between Pauline, Linda and I" for the show's enduring popularity. "The chemistry shines through, and the viewers really do like these characters."

Describing the script-reading process, and demonstrating just how well they've come to know their characters over the years, 70-year-old Joseph recalls: "When we see the episodes, we always say, 'Well I wouldn't say that. Sharon might say that'."

"It's weird!"

Howick & Brooker

Gothic House, High Street, Old Harlow, CM17 0DN

MULBERRY GREEN, OLD HARLOW

£595,000

"..An Amazing Bungalow With An Equally Amazing Kitchen.."

Probably one of the most attractive streets in the old town, Mulberry Green has so much character and is within the local conservation area as well. "Smiles" is a classic, modern bungalow with a difference. Many windows overlooking the gorgeous gardens with a big garden room tucked away in a sunny corner. Handmade bedroom furniture and then the kitchen, outstanding, would impress even Mary Berry or Jamie, has to be seen.

COALPORT CLOSE, CHURCH LANGLEY

OIEO £400,000

".. Serves Its Purpose Of A Fantastic Family Home, From A Kids Play Room To An Adults Hideaway.."

This detached property is pleasantly positioned, tucked away within Coalport Close overlooking a green area. The downstairs layout currently consists of cloakroom, modern kitchen, lounge and dining area with fireplace features. The original garage has been converted into two further rooms, plus utility area to create generous family accommodation. Upstairs consists of four bedrooms, en suite to the master and family bathroom. Further benefits include parking and extending potential STPP.

"... Some Of Our Latest Client Reviews ..."

"... Reyland Johnson have sold my flat for me. They have been nothing but approachable and professional from the start and offer a personal service. I have dealt with several big branded estate agents who offer an ok service but nothing compares to the personal service you get with Reyland Johnson. If I were to sell again they would be my only option ..."

Discover and explore one of the Mediterranean's most highly favoured holiday havens, with its capital Valletta and 'silent city' Mdina, on a wonderful, winter-warming break that includes five fascinating escorted excursions showcasing the very best of the island's charms and history, and those of its smaller, greener sister-isle Gozo.

Our price includes

- Enjoy a week of winter sun
- Escorted tour of capital Valletta
- Full-day visit to Gozo

- Traditional Maltese evening
- Visit to 'silent city' Mdina and historic Mosta
- Explore the 'Three Cities'
- Seven nights' half-board accommodation at the three-star superior Hotel Santana at Qawra (four-star hotel also available at supplement)
- Return flights from London Stansted & London Luton
- Air-conditioned coach travel and transfers
- Fully escorted by a friendly, professional tour manager

Care Support Workers (permanent full/part time or casual) Trainee Care roles also available

Our care teams provide personalised support to adult residents with learning disabilities and complex neurological needs (particularly epilepsy), and promote independent daily living, including social, leisure and household activities plus personal care where needed, all to enable individuals to live life to the full. You will have the opportunity to achieve a range of qualifications including Level 2 Diploma in Health and Social Care and there are excellent opportunities for career progression. (Starting salaries take account of experience and qualifications.)

Working in one of our teams based on-site in a beautiful location at Perry Green, you will also gain the benefits associated with being part of a larger organisation:

- Competitive salaries
- 31-36 days leave (inc. bank hols)
- Free on site parking and cafe
- High street, gym and leisure discounts
- Unsocial hours enhancements
- Pension scheme with life assurance
- Childcare voucher scheme
- Excellent training and support

Subsidised transport is offered from Harlow, Bishops Stortford and Sawbridgeworth

St Elizabeth's is committed to equality of opportunity and safeguarding.

All appointments are subject to an enhanced DBS check.

Come home to Harlow Staff Nurse Recruitment Day - Medicine

Friday 5th February 2016 from 9am at
The Trust Board Meeting Room (A44) - Hamstel Road, Harlow, CM20 1QX

The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust (PAH) is a District General Hospital employing 3,000 people and it provides acute services to the people of West Essex and East Hertfordshire. The Trust has a positive and successful approach to developing and delivering health care.

The PAH is climbing the performance league tables and was shortlisted this year for the first ever National Compassionate Patient Care Award and finished runner-up in the 500 entry Guardian Public Service Award for measuring excellence. In addition, the Trust has been nationally recognised for having one of the highest ratings from "Friends and Family" surveys.

We are currently recruiting Band 5 nurses who have interest to work on Medical Wards. If you are an Experienced Registered Nurse, Newly Qualified Nurse or returning to practice, we want to hear from you. We are a friendly, caring, and supportive hospital. We offer a friendly and caring environment and support with your clinical development.

We also encourage staff to grow within the Trust where there will be opportunities to move internally and gain experience in a variety of departments. Personal development programs are set up for each member of staff and are regularly reviewed and updated. We will also assist you with the NMC Revalidation process introduced from April 2016.

If you're looking for your next or even first nursing role, you'll feel right at home at the PAH.

For more information, please contact PAH Recruitment Team on 01279 444455 Ext. 7977 or email: recruitment@pah.nhs.uk

You can register your interest to attend by completing the application form on www.jobs.nhs.uk (Job reference: 292-N071-15)

Oilers are in a mess as Hawks motor on

HARLOW Hawks defeated Canvey Oilers 104-83 in Essex Basketball League Division Two.

Shab Niaz dazzled with a fine shooting display, hitting nine three pointers in the game.

The Hawks started well with scores from Rimantas Norkelunas and Alex Hinds, helping them lead 35-29 at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter, Harlow managed to put together an 8-0 run capped off by scores from Norkelunas and Lee Morris to go 51-43 up.

In the third quarter, Niaz took control of the game with four three pointers in an epic shooting display that left the Canvey defence helpless and frustrated.

Fast break scores for Tom White and Hinds added further points and Hawks U18 Josh Haddow provided brilliant rebounding and tenacity, leading to two baskets.

At the end of the third quarter, the Hawks led 77-56.

The Hawks finished the game with a 10-0 run to win convincingly.

Great start to vital month
Rams dig deep to beat rivals*RFU London Div Three NE

Harlow ..... 24
Southwold ..... 22

THE Rams bounced back after a disappointing loss at Upminster before the Christmas break to win a nail-biter with fifth-placed Southwold.

With a tough trip to third-placed Old Cooperians this Saturday, followed by a home match with May & Baker and a trip to neighbours Upper Clapton on January 30, the month could not get much tougher for Harlow.

Captain Shaun Roberts believes his side are in with a great shout of promotion in what should be the most exciting campaign in Division Three North East for many years.

Harlow are fourth, four points behind leaders Clapton.

Roberts, who revealed the Rams hope to bring in a full-back to boost their squad this week, said: "It's the closest it has been in this division since we have been in it. We will have a pretty good idea where we are at the end of January."

Southwold were undone by a late second try from Harlow centre Ross Stalley as the hosts picked up a crucial win.

Harlow suffered a setback in the first five minutes when scrum-half Jake Kent-Pope sustained concussion.

The Rams took an early lead when Stalley touched down in a corner for an unconverted try.

The visitors quickly responded with a penalty before the Rams scored a fantastic try.

Fly-half Danny Smith danced past two Southwold players before off-loading the ball.

A series of quick passes gave Roberts the opportunity to cut through and score.

Smith slotted the conversion, taking the lead to 12-3.

Massive drive

Close to half-time a massive forwards' drive near a touchline ended with prop James Ephgrave crashing over for another try.

Southwold hit back with a converted try to make the score 17-10 at the interval.

After the break a Southwold winger zipped through poor Harlow defence to run in their second try, cutting the lead to 17-15.

With 15 minutes left Southwold grabbed a third try after an interception to go 22-17 in front.

But Harlow dug deep and after a sustained period of pressure, from a driving maul they moved the ball wide and Stalley broke away to level the score with a try. Despite a difficult angle and a greasy surface Smith slotted the crucial conversion to put Harlow two points ahead.

This also secured a vital bonus point for scoring four tries.

Despite strong pressure from the visitors in the closing five minutes Harlow held on.

Roberts added: "We made hard work of it. The confidence was a little bit down after we crashed down to earth against Upminster."

"We dug deep after a few mistakes and showed tremendous resolve against the elements."

There has been a great response to an appeal for more commitment to training.

Roberts also praised Stalley, who joined Harlow before Christmas from rivals Clapton. "He is exactly what we needed. He's such a creative player," he added.

Kent-Pope is out for three weeks with his concussion.

Clinical edge proves pivotal

Essex Women's Hockey League Premier Division

Witham ..... 3
Harlow ..... 1

CLINICAL finishing was the difference as Harlow Ladies lost their relegation crunch match with Witham.

The result saw their hosts climb above them in the table as Harlow slipped into the bottom two in the Premier Division.

Harlow had just as many clear cut opportunities by half-time and yet found themselves bewilderingly 3-0 down.

The Witham goalkeeper had made a number of excellent close-range saves from player of the match Kelly Ball and the equally impressive Charlotte Byers.

Harlow were determined to win the second half and in reality could have levelled the scores with Chambers, Byers and Ball all having good chances early on in the second half.

Witham came back into the game and keeper Laura Hay made two vital saves of her own to keep the score down to three.

She made one particularly impressive save at the feet of an onrushing Witham forward.

Crosses from Emma Tweddle were nearly converted by Ball, while another through ball put Tani Naidoo clear through but her shot went narrowly wide. Harlow just couldn't find a cutting edge until a cross from Tweddle was put in at the far post by a diving Ball.

Further chances came and went but the possession and play of Harlow was to be commended as they bossed the second half.

Harlow host high-flyers Maldon on Saturday.

Harlow's second team lost 5-0 to Witham.

Player of the match was Sarah Alderson.

Flying start for club's juniors

HARLOW Athletic Club's juniors got 2016 off to a flying start.

A series of outstanding performances secured fine results for the club's youngsters in an Essex Cross Country League match held at Orion Harriers in Chingford.

The undulating course in Epping Forest was a quagmire after the rain and blustery and cold conditions, which made the races hard going for all the athletes.

In the U13 girls' 3km race, Charlotte Pratt was sixth (13min 22sec), Savanna Sirkett was 12th (14:08), Ellen Savidge was 21st (15:39) and Mari Malcolm was 34th (17:07).

In the U13 boys' 3km race, pride of place for the day went to Joe Morgan who finished third (12:08), Ben Sloan was eighth (12:30) and twin brother Sam Sloan was 11th (12:48).

In the U15 girls' 4km race, Lottie Rowedder was a fantastic fourth (17:32) and Eilidh Malcolm was 25th (21:37).

In the U15 boys' 4km race, Lewis Harknett had a tough day at the office and faded from second to seventh in the closing stages (16:19), Jamie Putt was 17th (17:11) and Owen Harknett was 30th (18:33).

In the U17 boys' 6km, Christian Barker ran well for 22nd (29:37).

In the senior men's 8km race, Donald Campbell was 81st overall and 15th U20 man home in (35:21).

Hawks Ladies soar as title's in their clutches

Unbeaten women's team building for a brighter future

by Will Mata

will.mata@hertssexnews.co.uk

WHILE their male counterparts are battling for a play-off place in Ryman North, Harlow Town Ladies are yet to be defeated, winning every single league game.

Their achievements are even more remarkable when one considers that this time last year the Hawks didn't even have a women's team.

The rapid rise is largely down to the vision of manager Grant Palmer, and the leadership of his daughter Imogen, the team's captain.

Father-of-three Palmer is a managing director of a company in Nottingham and started coaching girls' football ten years ago after some persuasion.

"Imogen was jealous of her brothers playing every week and asked me to coach a team for her and her friends," said Palmer of the team's origins.

Football is the fastest growing team sport for girls with 147,000 now playing in a league, compared to 10,400 in 1993.

Growing demand

England's bronze medal success at the 2015 Women's World Cup in Canada has been a further boost to participation numbers according to Palmer.

"Harlow is a large town and really needed a ladies' football team," he said.

"This is the only ladies football team for some distance and it's needed to meet a growing demand."

The manager met me in a good mood as Town were fresh from a 5-0 victory against Wickford Town.

"We would probably have scored more if we weren't trying out a new system," he laughed.

"It has been a very positive season so far, and we actually haven't yet conceded a goal while playing at home."

Hawks started at the very bottom of a large pyramid in women's football.

Against new and developing teams, Palmer's girls, most of whom have known each other ten years, having played together for a different team, have put opponents to the sword and regularly hit double figures.

ONWARDS AND UPWARDS: The Harlow Town Ladies team, in no particular order, Nene McInerney, Christie Seakens, Eliza Weeks, Catherine Kelly, Phoebe McMurray, Sarah Walker, Abbie Bensted, Imogen Palmer, Tor Hill, Tia Dye, Riley Bennett, Roz Bivona, Grace McLeod, Grant Palmer, Sarah Hickerson, Megan Sende, Philippa Stephens, Chloe Ring

With a perfect record of played 12, won 12, Harlow Town look indomitable at the top of their league.

"We're now in the senior ladies division and unfortunately we're at the very bottom [division] – but I guess that's football," said Palmer.

"There were three games in a row that ended with a 10-0 or higher victory and I could see the girls were thinking 'really?'."

"But we try to improve week on week – even if we just aim to take less touches and make sure every pass goes to feet."

While the men's side was founded in 1879, this is a new venture for the club in terms of running a ladies team.

Palmer has been the manager of a ladies team for much longer though and took most of these girls through the age groups, from their early days as a small team in Hertford.

He said: "I've been with this group since they were the Bury Rangers U8s [in Hertford] right through until when they were part of the U18s team, but they were a bit too strong for their age group."

"Harlow Town were looking to build a set-up for ladies, and we wanted a place to play."

Infrastructure

"It was a great match as they had the infrastructure to develop a side from the youth up so we brought the Bury Rangers side over en-masse."

"All of those girls are U20 and while our goalkeeper Sarah Walker, who has joined this year, is a bit older – it's still a very young team."

"This is our first ever season and there is no history to the club, but apart from the smaller attendances, they are treated the same as the men's team."

All being well, the team should comfortably qualify from the Essex County Division One and enter the county's Premier Division.

Palmer hopes his side's impressive performances have been enough to catch the eye of the decision makers who could put the Hawks forward a further division into the Eastern Region League.

A recent cup competition victory against a higher division team sent out a positive message but more impressive results will need to follow for Harlow to make the jump.

Palmer said: "The girls are now on a Christmas break, but the next game will actually be against the U18 side in the cup."

The U18s team was founded shortly after the main team and they train together on one half of the main pitch.

"The girls all train together and there is a lot of pride at stake – I think it might be quite an interesting game," he beamed.

However, the success of the group is more down to the team chemistry than individual performances.

"All the players have value and we have two that have scored more than 20 goals this season already," he added.

"But we are not a team of individuals and there is a great team dynamic."

Palmer believes the women's game will get bigger and bigger.

He added: "It's growing year after year and more and more schools now have girl's football teams."

"The World Cup has been great, especially for those under ten who had never come across it before."

Harlow go eight points clear as rivals lose

THE combination of victory in a seven-goal thriller and a defeat for closest rivals Clacton means Harlow are now eight points clear at the top of Division Six South East in the East Men's Hockey League.

Harlow can increase the gulf even further when they host their second-placed Essex rivals in a title crunch match at Leventhorpe School on Saturday. A sluggish start last weekend saw the visitors fall behind, but this didn't last long as Andy Boughtwood brought the teams level before half-time.

He converted from a penalty corner at the second attempt after the keeper had made an initial save.

Harlow started brighter in the second half, scoring the next goal after Harvey turned defence into attack when he beat some players, then played a pinpoint pass halfway up the pitch to Adam Ottley.

He skilfully beat a defender before cool smashing it into a bottom corner.

Determined to keep the winning streak going, Harlow kept pressing and the pressure finally paid off as an attack down the right saw Shayne Grace beat two players before unselfishly squaring to Boughtwood to score his second of the game.

Grace then scored for himself as again he went on a run and rounded the keeper before slotting home.

After some substitutions and some loss of concentration Harlow found themselves coming under attack and conceded two goals.

It could have been worse were it not for some spectacular saves from the returning Shaun Hastler.

With only a few minutes left Harlow played some keep ball, frustrating their opponents until the whistle blew.

Ghost of play-off past exorcised with victory at Witham

Ryman North
Witham Town ..... 1
Harlow Town ..... 2

THE Hawks exorcised the ghost of play-off past as they made it five wins on the trot by beating Witham Town.

Having lost the 2014 Ryman North play-off final at Witham with a humiliating 3-0 reverse, Danny Chapman's men were keen to put one over their old adversaries.

Harlow Town came from a goal down to win 2-1 to stay in touch with the play-off chasers, in the first fixture at Spa Road between these two sides since that final.

The Hawks were missing top scorer Junior Dadson through work commitments, but right-back Craig Pope returned after a three-game ban.

George Cocklin put Witham in front early on with an excellent free-kick on the edge of the box.

Alex Read was inches wide with a chance to equalise moments later.

But Harlow levelled before half-time though when Witham keeper Lewis Down dropped Ryan Melaugh's free-kick into his own net.

Harlow went in front straight after the break when Simon Glover handled in the box from Mario Noto's free-kick.

Read stepped up to score his 16th goal of the season, sending Down the wrong way.

Hawks boss Chapman said: "By scoring straight after the restart it really lifted our boys and knocked Witham back down a little bit.

"It wasn't a game with loads of chances but I always felt as though we were in control of the game.

"Defensively second half we were spot on and it was one of those games where you had to dig in, so to come away with all three points is very pleasing.

"It's five wins on the bounce now so we're really pleased with how things are going at the moment."

HARLOW TOWN: Hughes, Pope, Eadie (Stamp 76), West, Sonko, Simms, Wixon (Benjamin 74), Gordon, Read (Antoine 83), Noto, Melaugh.

Bethell wins parkrun in top time

HARLOW Running Club members were out and about at various 5km parkruns at the weekend.

At Harlow, Jared Bethell was victorious, winning the event out of 138 finishers in an excellent 19min 01sec.

He was followed home by Martyn Coulter (9th in 22:51), Anna Baker (16th and second female in 23:58), Spencer Brooks (17th in 24:04), Richard Smith (19th in 24:15), Paul Dixon (32nd in 25:45), Debbie Barry (35th and first Female Vet 55 in 25:56), Robin Lozeau (40th in 26:19), Alan Wellbelove (42nd in 26:29), Louise Kedge (49th in 28:01), Pushpa Mistry (88th in 33:46) and Sheila Leach (106th in 36:29).

Meanwhile at the Gunpowder parkrun at Waltham Abbey, Daniel Jephcott was fourth out of 154 finishers and first U20 in 19:31.

He was followed by father Jamie, recently back from injury (5th in 19:53), Paul Schroder (27th in 22:42 personal best), Jamie Luck (34th in 23:17), Louise Cootes (63rd in 26:17 PB) and Austin Nyamande (94th in 29:51).

At Hatfield Forest, Justin Patten was 21st out of 154 finishers in 22:40.

He was followed by Jason Haigh (22nd in 23:10), Graham Saville (27th in 23:39), John Bull (37th in 24:27), Michelle Hyde (80th in 27:16) and Janice Page (81st and second Female Vet 50 in 27:18).

Mark Hayward came home in 84th place out of 588 finishers in 22:46 at the Bromley parkrun.

At Brentwood, Andy Kinney was 82nd out of 135 finishers in 33:52.

The following day Kinney competed in the Woodcote 10K, finishing in 347th place out of 428 in 61:54.

Boxers so Swede on King of the Ring titles

Harlow trio take gold medal victories in Scandinavia

By Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

THERE are high hopes for three Harlow boxers bidding to make a name for themselves at the club which spawned world champion Billy Joe Saunders.

Passmores School students Harry Dickson, 15, Daniel Smyth, 14, and Taylor Smith, 13, have just returned from winning their bouts at a tournament in Sweden called 'King of the Ring' - one of the biggest in Europe.

They are all members of Hoddesdon Boxing Academy.

The boys competed in A tournament in Boras, which finished on Sunday after three days of intensive boxing.

Coach Sab Leo said: "Harry and Daniel only joined last summer but are making great strides.

Outstanding

"Both started their amateur careers with us, losing close decisions but since then have worked hard and most recently all won their respective contests in Sweden."

The Hoddesdon team of 21 boxers returned home with an outstanding haul of 12 gold medals, seven silvers and two bronzes.

They also won the 'best team' trophy, beating off top squads from the Ukraine, Austria, Sweden and Norway.

The Harlow trio trained with club-mates at their base in Burford Street, all over the Christmas period.

The extra effort paid dividends as performances peaked to a vast audience with live streaming of the bouts shown around Europe.

Harry, who attended primary school at Church Langley and lives in Jocelyns in Old Harlow, was delighted with his gold medal after convincingly defeating his opponent.

He said: "I have big dreams and ambitions.

"I boxed a lad from Finland, who was a strong lad - he came to fight.

"You will hear plenty more of me as I want to be something big in Harlow and I want everyone to know and hear about me."

Leo added: "This tournament had so many outstanding performances.

"All the boxers were brilliant, as were the coaches who worked tirelessly throughout.

"Preparation was key and the work started back in December with Christmas Day being the only day off.

"We were backed by the wonderful travelling supporters - mainly parents - who cheered every individual over three days."

He added: "To win the best team trophy was an outstanding achievement considering the Ukrainian, Austrian and Norwegian national representatives had fielded strong teams.

"I would like to think we left a lasting impression with our hosts who were impressed with our boxers but also our sportsmanship."

M25 traffic delays Hawks as they dress up as Pirates

Harlow Hawks ..... 97

SEVERE traffic on the M25 motorway failed to deter Harlow Hawks who racked up nearly 100 points to leave the Pirates shipwrecked.

The kit also arrived late so Hawks players wore the Pirates' spare white kit.

Despite this, the visitors started the first quarter well, notching up ten quick points.

A three pointer from Jimmy Furhmann put Hawks eight points up.

However, back-to-back three pointers from the Pirates brought them back into the game with two points between the teams.

The quarter ended with Hawks 16-13 ahead.

The introduction of traffic-hit Shab Niaz into the match in the second quarter made a real difference to Hawks' lead.

Niaz scored four three pointers in the second quarter with two back-to-back threes at the beginning and the last two shots from Hawks at the end.

Dan Cohen also had a good quarter, netting eight points, with other baskets coming from Furhmann, Saul Friedner and Rimantas Norkelionas.

This resulted in the highest scoring quarter with a total of 29 points and the visitors 45-30 ahead.

Eight points in the first few minutes of the third quarter gave Harlow a 20-point lead.

The Pirates stepped up their offence and scored two successive three pointers, but Hawks maintained the pressure at the other end.

A three pointer from Niaz put Hawks 69-47 in front at the end of this quarter.

Nine points from Hawks put the match to bed in the final quarter before Harlow's Lee Morris committed five fouls and had to sit out the remainder of the match.

Cohen's nine-point haul including a buzzer-beating three pointer to end the match put the icing on a 97-74 win.

Juniors shine with bronze and top debut

THREE Harlow Athletic Club members competed in the South of England Indoor Championships at Lee Valley Athletic Stadium in North London.

For Beth Harryman (pictured above), the younger sister of gold medal-winning national champion Naomi, it was her debut in a national competition as an individual.

The 15-year-old finished a creditable eighth in the U17 high jump, leaping 1.45 metres.

Her club-mate Lewis Harknett, 15, claimed a bronze medal in the 1500m.

He clocked a fantastic time of 4min 34.14sec.

His twin brother Owen was fifth in his 800m heat in 2:17.98.

On Sunday, Harlow's juniors were competing in the Hertfordshire Cross Country Championships held at Stevenage.

Pride of place in the U15 girls' went to Lottie Rowedder, who claimed second place over the 5.5km course in 22:25 to earn Herts county selection to compete at the English National Inter Counties Championships in March.

Lottie was joined in the race by club-mate Eilidh Malcol, who was 22nd in 27:31.

In the U13 girls 3.5km race, Grace Malcol was 21st in 19:06 and Mairi Malcol was 30th in 21:32.

In the U17 girls' 6.5km race, Katie Champion was tenth in 30:23. She hopes to receive a Herts county call-up.

In the U13 boys' 3.5km race, Sam Sloan was sixth (15:13) to gain Herts selection and twin brother Ben, who was suffering with illness, finished in 13th place in 16:20.

James Wilson was 24th in 22:13.

In the U15 boys' 5.5km race, Tom Wilson was 22nd in 23:01 and Sam Collins was 24th in 23:27.

'YOUR SUPPORT'S JUST FAN-TASTIC'

Boss hails fans as play-off charge gathers momentum

By Stuart Ballard

sportsdesk@hertsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Town manager Danny Chapman has praised the club's supporters as "the best in the Ryman North" and admits their allegiance will help determine their success this year.

Rallied by the vocal, large travelling support Harlow battled back to take all three points at Witham Town on Saturday, stretching their winning run to five games.

Chapman beamed: "The fans make a massive difference. I've said it before and I'll say it again that they are the best supporters, definitely in this league, and even in leagues above there won't be many that match them.

"They may get more following in the leagues above but you won't find a better or more dedicated group than the Harlow supporters.

"If we're going to achieve what we want to this season then we need them there behind us 100 per cent and they have done since I've been manager.

Appreciation

"They're fantastic, we appreciate everything they do and we like to think we show that appreciation by going up to them at the end of the game.

"There has to be that relationship between the side and the supporters because they travel all over with us and we want to give them a round of applause for what they give us during the game."

The Hawks host play-off rivals Bury Town on Saturday, boosted by the return of attackers Junior Dadson and winger Jared Small, who missed out against Witham due to work commitments and a hamstring injury respectively.

Chapman knows his side are on a good run and can emulate last season's eight-game winning streak from February to April, when they lost to Cray.

"Winning breeds confidence and that's just one loss in 11 now as well so all we've got to make sure is we don't get carried away with ourselves," he said.

Last weekend's win kept them level with Tilbury occupying the fifth and final play-off spot.

Chapman said: "The biggest thing about this league is anyone is capable of beating anyone - top or bottom.

"We're not really worrying about other teams at the moment, we've just got to concentrate on what we're doing.

"There will be some very tough games against the likes of Bury and Hornchurch so where we are at the end of this month could be an indicator to where we'll finish the season."

Harlow's away Ryman North match against Soham Town Rangers was postponed on Tuesday due to a waterlogged pitch.

The Hawks face a league trip to Romford next Wednesday following the home match on Saturday.
